

Terms of use.

1. Medical information

The content of these pages does not form any health assertion nor incitement to self-medication. The diagnosis and therapy of illnesses and other physical disruptions requires treatment by doctors. The information on these pages is purely informational and cannot be used to replace treatment by a doctor. The risk associated with a wrong diagnosis or treatment can only be reduced by consulting a doctor. No guarantee can be given for any dosage or specific medical treatment that is mentioned on the pages of www.minami-nutrition.com. Each user is urged, by careful testing and if applicable after consultation of a specialist, to determine whether or not the offered recommendations and target values are appropriate for their specific case. Each dosage, use or therapy is carried out at the own risk of the user.

2. Use of content

Each use of the content of www.minami-nutrition.com by third parties requires the written permission of the publishers without any exception. The used trademarks and all related logos and designs are the property of Atrium Innovations Inc. The use or abuse of these trademarks or of the content of the website without written permission is expressly forbidden.

3. Actuality and accuracy

All rights reserved. All of the information on www.minami-nutrition.com reflects the newest information at the moment of publication. Any liability or guarantee for the actuality, accuracy and completeness of the provided information and data is excluded. The information on the webpages forms by no means a legal commitment. Atrium Innovations Belgium bvba reserves the right to execute whenever necessary changes, eliminations or additions to the provided information or data without any prior notification. From the aforementioned no legal implications can be derived. Offers are undividedly non-binding.

4. Links

We expressly state that we do not have any influence on the design nor the content of the pages to which is referred by means of hyperlinks starting from www.minami-nutrition.com. As a consequence we distance ourselves expressly from the content of the linked pages and assume no responsibility whatsoever. When you visit such pages, you acknowledge the aforementioned and that any legal steps because of possible consequences resulting from the use of the information contained in these pages are excluded.

5. Disclaimer

The use of the information on www.minami-nutrition.com is at your own risk. Furthermore no legal responsibility whatsoever, nor any liability, is assumed for damage that results from eventual wrong information. Atrium Innovations Belgium bvba is not responsible for any direct or indirect damage that occurs by using the information or data that are to be found on this website. There are no rights or obligations between Atrium Innovations Belgium bvba and the users of the website or third parties.